

Have you found the History of Langar website yet? -
- <https://historyoflangarforyoungpeople.jimdofree.com/>

The 20th CENTURY - Big changes

Click here - <https://historyoflangarforyoungpeople.jimdofree.com/a-little-history/the-20th-century/>

- > First skim the whole page looking for the main features of how farming changed in the 20th century.
- > Now make notes (bullet points) about each of the big changes

* what is was like early in the century then * what it was like by the end of the century:

> What did farmers grow?

> How did machinery change?

> What happened to the size of fields and why?

> How many people worked on farms?

> And finally watch the video (Weblinks at the bottom of the page) of a year on Andrew and John Withers' Honey Top Farm in Norfolk where they grow crops similar to Langar and the Vale of Belvoir - https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SVoPO_C_7sc – it links to YouTube.

(> That video lasts only 8 minutes – but if you've AN HOUR to spare! watch a video showing British farming seen from the air - https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SVoPO_C_7sc.)

> And very finally! – It's the 21st century now, of course. You live in an area surrounded by farms and fields. Write about what you have seen or know or noticed about farming now where you live.

